Mrs. Joe Brieten was brought to town Thursday morning for surgical attention. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boehle went down early Thursday morning to visit Mrs. Breiten. Their car got stuck in the public road in the lane between the Mann and Breiten farms and Mrs. Breiten and Tom Watson brought the farm truck to their assistance and succeeded in extricating the car from the mudhole. The journey was resumed, and when within about a hundred yards of the Breiten home the truck got stuck. In stepping from the truck to the ground Mrs. Breiten had the misfortune to slip on the wet ground, and in trying to save herself threw out her left arm and broke her left wrist. She was immediately brought to town and the injured member set, and while no doubt she will eventually regain control of the injured wrist, she will undoubtedly suffer many days between now and that date. She has the sympathy of everyone in her mishap.

C. R. Gaines and brother-in-law, G. C. Taylor, can tell you all about the Tuesday night's hail and rain storm, as they took it all in. They had been down to San Antonio, and in attempting to return home got stuck in the mud near the Medio, in Bexar county. No help being available, and being unable to extricate themselves, they were forced to spend the night in their auto. This would not have been so bad if an occasional hail stone, through the auto top had not disturbed their slumbers. With the coming of morning all the draft animals for several miles around were procured and the auto dragged to firm ground, after which several of the farm animals were fished from the mudhole. It seems Medina county is not the only county that has bad roads.

County Agent C. M. Merritt went to Dilly Thursday to attend a district stock judging contest that was participated in by the boys from the calf clubs of all this Southwest Texas District. He was accompanied on his trip by Leslie Stiegler, Hondo, Hartley Howard, Devine, and Manford Burgin, Yancey, who constitute the contestants for Medina county. Arthur Bohmfalk of Yancey, accompanied the team as a substitute and Milton Schweers went with them for the pleasure he gets out of looking at pretty animals. This work of the boys calf club is doing more than any other one thing to stimulate a healthy, wholesome interest in better live stock. We expect good news from Medina county's team at this meeting.

Messrs. L. F. and Diedrick Heickman were here Thursday from Somerset on a visit to their brother-in-law, R. E. Bohmfalk, and family. The Messrs. Heickman informed the Anvil Herald man that the Somerset oil field has been extended several miles in a north-easterly and south-westerly direction just south and east of the town of Somerset. The field is being constantly advanced in a south-westerly direction. The wells are from 1300 to 1800 feet and several flowing wells are among the number. They also informed us that the berry crop for which Somerset is also famous is very good this year.

Jerry Smith, one of Hondo's successful young bee-culturists, reports his bees doing well and producing a fine crop of honey despite the cool, rainy weather. Honey is bringing a fair price.

Carload shipments in and out of Hondo for the past week amounted to nine cars, as follows: Outbound, 1 car hay, 1 of corn, 2 of cattle and 2 of oats, and inbound, 1 car of Fords, 1 car chicken feed and 1 of gasoline.

A Mexican on the E. R. Leinweber farm was struck on the leg by a rattlesnake Wednesday night. Medical assistance was promptly rendered, and he is now on the road to recovery. These reptiles seem unusually numerous this year.

The final exams are now in progress at the High School, and the pupils are a busy bunch getting ready for the close of school next Thursday night. The final issue of the Huajillo Leaf, properly to be issued next Wednesday, will be deferred until the close of school.

All members of Medina Lodge No. 867, I. O. O. F., are urged to be present at the next regular meeting Thursday, as important matters pertaining to dues are to come up for consideration. Don't "leave it all to George to do," but come out and shoulder your share of responsibility.

Prof. W. N. Saathoff attended the commencement exercises of the Lacoste public school Thursday evening and says it was a fitting finale to one of the most successful school years ever conducted in our little irrigation neighbor town. A most delightful program was rendered, an appropriate address delivered by the county superintendent and a bountiful box supper rounded out a most pleasant evening. The proceeds of the supper, approximately $125, found its way into the school treasury.

Mrs. Emma Short, mother, and Mrs. Will Blanks, sister, of our fellow-townsmen, Mr. J. W. Short, after a several days' visit to their son and brother and family, left Tuesday for Bandera county on a visit to Joe Short and family. The ladies were accompanied on their Bandera trip as far as the Short ranch by Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Short, where the ladies were met by Bandera county relatives for the remainder of the trip. Both Mrs. Short and daughter will return here before going to their home at Seguin.

Mrs. P. Jungman returned last week from a visit to her son, Arthur, at Dallas. Mrs. Jungman dearly wants to see the country over which she travels. When she got ready to start on her return trip, in order to make the journey in daylight, she concluded to come by way of Houston and visit a sister, remain over night and continue her journey in daylight, so she left Dallas in the morning for the Bayou City. After traveling by detours over nearly all of East Texas, and the western part of Arkansas and Louisiana, she finally reached her first day's destination, but long after late retires had had several naps. She says from the amount of water in evidence she at times was in doubt whether she was on terra firma or in the Gulf of Mexico. Of course from Houston home she had a daylight run, O. K. But the first part of her trip shows that the best laid plans of mice and ladies, as well as men, "gang aft agie."

Even the bees are tired of being held up and robbed, and if any one doubts this statement they can ask the son of Mr. John Fohn. This young man thought it about time the bees should add their pro rata to the daily menu, and acting on the thought, proceeded to hold up the apiary. He will recover, but we rather suspect he will be conspicuous by his absence on next robbing day. All the bees were at home when he entered the apiary and they all had their fighting clothes on. When a physician reached him he looked as though he was suffering from a severe case of rash, but a liberal application of lotions soon had him resting easy, but we suspect some one else will look after the robbing of the bees in the future.

Paradoxical as it may seem, farmers in this section are praying for a cessation of rain. Oats are ripening, it is too wet to harvest and many oat farmers stand to lose heavily unless clear, dry weather prevails soon. Corn is ready to lay by, much of it is foul and the ground is too wet to safely cultivate. Here and there, cotton has been chopped and cultivated, and it is doing well, but much of that not so treated is hopelessly lost in the grass and weeds. Verily, the lot of him who tills the soil is one of many vicissitudes. When not drying up he is drowning out—and with it all, must feed the boll weevils and the profiteers!

At a conference of the chairmen of the various committees of the County Fair Monday evening a committee to look after concessions was appointed as follows: Felix Batot, J. J. Bless, J. J. Droicourt, Miss Mollie de Montel and F. G. Muennink. A finance committee composed of Geo. Muennink, H. F. King and J. M. Finger was also appointed. There will be another committee conference next Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce Club Hall. All committee chairmen are urged to be present, as there is much work of preliminary nature to be done to put the Fair movement to going with the momentum it should have.

B. F. Heath was down from Leake Thursday. Mr. Heath says that the sheep and goat men of that section passed through a hard winter, but now that grass is plentiful, stock fat and wool and mohair at a better price than for some time, conditions are much improved. Mr. Heath also thinks that if farmers and stockmen would make systematic war on the coyotes and hunt down and destroy the young litters of pups the coyote menace would soon be reduced to the minimum.

Russell Routt passed through here the early part of the week enroute to Bandera and other points in the hill country to buy wool and mohair. The improved prices of these commodities has given new life to the industry and flock masters, the first men to feel the crushing effect of "deflation," and have been among its worst victims, are about to stage a "come-back." The man who can stay with the game always does. Here is more luck to them.

The High School Alumni Association held its annual reception Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce hall. Readings, vocal and instrumental selections and refreshments served to occupy the time and interest of all until the hour of a journeyment when all went home through the mud.

"Beg pardon, sir, but could you tell me if there is a man living in the hotel with one eye named John Harly?"

"Maybe I could help you out. Do you know the name of his other eye?"—Black and Blue Jay.

THE RAIN.

Old Jupiter Pluvius continues on the job in this section, and .86 of an inch of rain, not counting the heavy mists of Thursday and Friday morning, is the record for the past week. A good shower fell last Saturday night, followed by another Sunday night. Tuesday night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, another rain, amounting to .61 of an inch, accompanied by a miniature cyclone and some hail, made our people somewhat nervous. Crops suffered from both the hail and high wind, the latter perhaps proving the most destructive. The hail was rather severe in some farms, both the cotton and corn being damaged, but the general consensus of opinion is that no crops were hopelessly injured. The wind was less partial than the hail, and all farms report the corn blown down, a considerable portion of it broken off, this damage being confined more particularly to the north and east portions of the county. However, these rains almost assure a good corn crop.

What the farmers now are hoping for is a period of hot sunshine. This long drawn out damp spell is proving deleterious to cotton, some complaining that the plant is suffering from the ravages of webworms, while others are complaining that the cotton is getting "lousy." However, a few days of hot sunshine will remedy this.

Pastures are fine as anyone could wish, cattle taking on flesh rapidly, and if there is anything in indications, old Medina promises, both in farm and ranch products, one of the most prosperous years in its history.

TEXAS POLITICAL CALENDAR.

From Galveston Daily News.
The Texas primary election law discriminates in its requirements as concerns nominations for state, district, county and precinct offices.
Parties which cast 100,000 or more votes at the last preceding election are required to nominate by the primary election method. Parties which cast more than 10,000 and less than 100,000 votes at the last preceding election may nominate by either the primary election or convention system, but at a certain time in advance must elect which method will be adopted.

The democratic party, having cast more than 100,000 votes in the last election, is required to nominate by primary election.

The republican party, having cast less than 100,000 votes and more than 10,000 for its candidate for governor at the last election, may nominate by primary election or by the convention system.

Smaller parties are free as to both

and the continuance of the species satisfies the purely animal desires without which there can be no complete happiness.

Labor is the only means to this end. Therefore, it is the duty of every one to contribute of his labor, either intellectual or physical, to the production or distribution of these commodities, which constitute wealth. Such an organization of society as will guarantee to each and every member thereof an equal opportunity to contribute of his labor, according to his ability, to the production and equitable distribution of wealth and to guarantee the right of participation in the consumption of this wealth by every member of society, according to his needs, is the divine mission of man.

Now, back to the analogy of the ants. Men, guided by the Devil of Selfishness, are running to and fro to satisfy their desires. Some men who never know when they have enough are running to the West, the land of Darkness, and crying out, "They are after my property, the earnings of my lifetime, or the acquisitions of my ancestors." These are reactionaries, the profiteers or parasites of society, who prefer darkness to light. Others are following after them crying out, "Please drop me a few crumbs from your tables or I perish." These are the conservatives who prefer to let well enough alone provided their needs are satisfied. Some guided by righteousness are traveling towards the East but dominated by fear keep their eyes on the ground to guard against impediments, and are crying out, "Oh, no, I am not headed towards that distant light." These are the practical progressives who prefer to keep their feet on the ground while their heads are in the sky. There are those with their eyes fixed unalterably on that distant beacon light of Truth revealing justice for all mankind. These, guided by Reason, are crying out, "Just leave the earth on the wings of the ideal, and follow us to truth and happiness." These are the intellectual progressives, whom you may follow at your peril.

There are still others, guided by prejudice and dominated by want, who go some north, some south, or mill around like swarming bees and cry out in agony, "Oh, what are we here for, and whither are we bound?" These are the great mass of humanity kept in subjection through ignorance and want. Among these are many farmers, and laborers, heroically struggling against their environment for the light that clears the way to their enjoyment of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. What a task for our schools to make and distribute knowledge, the light of the world, and what a task for society to secure for all an equal opportunity to create and distribute the wealth which all shall enjoy in the ultimate attainment of happiness!

We need more and better schools, more and better agricultural production, more and better co-operative societies for the distribution of commodities. These reforms are advocated by the practical progressives. Will you join their ranks and with them "go marching along?"

A. W. KINNARD.

Editor's Note—The above is the first of a series of articles begun in the Monthly News Bulletin formerly issued by the State Department of Agriculture. After only five of these articles had been published the News Bulletin was suspended through the refusal of the Legislature to appropriate the funds necessary to carry it on and their publication ceased. Their writer, who is a prominent educator, one of the most widely read men of the state and one of the deepest thinkers whose acquaintance we have ever enjoyed, has consented to take up his unfinished work and complete the series for publication in future issues of our new farm paper. After the series is finished (if gathered into a book, thinkers along sociological and economic lines would pay two dollars and a half or more for a copy of the volume. Unless unavoidably prevented from finishing the series, those who subscribe now and pay a dollar cash will get the balance of the series through future issues of the new paper. Think of ALL THAT MEANS and don't delay sending in your dollar. We need it now.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

By Hazel B. Leiter.

Strawberry shortcake certainly appeals to the majority of people who enjoy eating good food. It is a most attractive dish and a most delicious and satisfying dessert. It is easy to prepare.

The most popular shortcake is perhaps the old-fashioned kind made of biscuit dough, filled with fresh strawberries and served with plain or whipped cream.

The housewife should make easy work of preparing this tempting dessert.

At any convenient time, wash and hull two boxes of fresh strawberries. Place the clean berries in an earthen bowl and crush slightly, add enough sugar to make plenty of juice. Let the berries stand at least an hour. They may stand a longer time without injury.

To make the shortcake, take four level cups of sifted pastry flour, four level teaspoons of baking powder and one teaspoon of salt.

Sift these ingredients together two or three times. Measure four level tablespoonfuls of butter or other cooking fat and rub it into the sifted flour and other ingredients. When the fat is well mixed with the flour, add about two cups of milk, enough to make a soft, sticky dough. Turn dough out on well-floured board, dredge with flour on top to prevent sticking and roll out until about three-quarters of an inch thick.

The shortcake may be cut in small round or square pieces for individual shortcakes, or it may be cut in two large round or square pieces and served as one large shortcake. The layers may be baked separately, but if a softer crust is desired between the layers of the shortcake, one layer

THE NEW FARM AND HOME PUBLICATION.
We need that dollar now—need it because the dollar will help us finance the undertaking, but need it mainly because it takes a paid subscription list to get the second class mailing privilege. So if you feel a dollar's worth of interest in the editor and his enterprise show it now.

Mr. Davis hopes, in a publication of his own, to take up again the work for the farmers of Texas which he was doing and which was interrupted when the Legislature cut off the appropriation for the Monthly News Bulletin of the State Department of Agriculture. He has the promise of some able help in editing his paper and hopes to surpass anything ever achieved with the State publication.

WHAT'S COMING

The answer to "What's Coming" will depend upon the response of the public of the state. Being a privately owned and financed enterprise it must be supported by paid subscriptions. Will you help him put it across? Do you want to be a pioneer in the enterprise? If so send a dollar at once and find out "What's Coming." There are nearly 500,000 farmers in Texas. It will take too long to get around with a sample copy. Don't wait. Call at the office now, or use the following and send your dollar.

Mr. Fletcher Davis,
Hondo, Texas.
Dear Sir—Desiring to be among the first to come to your assistance and wishing to know just "What's Coming," here is my dollar to find out. Send the paper when published to—

Write name perfectly plain

Write postoffice perfectly plain

Rural Route and Box, if any

Do the same for the State

If you want to be a missionary as well as a financial helper, call your neighbor's attention to this and tell him it costs just a dollar to find out "What's Coming" and urge upon him that—may be placed in the pan and brushed with melted butter and the next layer placed over the first. The two layers are then baked together. Either of these methods is better than baking a thick shortcake and splitting it, as hot dough does not cut or split satisfactorily, and shortcake is usually served hot. Bake about fifteen minutes in hot oven.

He helps most who helps quickly

When baked place first layer on hot serving plate and brush over with melted butter. Place one-half of the berries on top of this layer and place the second layer on top of the berries. Place the remainder of the berries and the juice on top of the cake.

Shortcake should be served as soon as possible after the berries are added. It may be served plain or topped with whipped cream. The whipped cream may be colored pink with some of the strawberry juice. When whipped cream cannot be obtained or is prohibitive in price a shortcake may be topped with a meringue made of the whites of two eggs well beaten and two tablespoons of powdered sugar. The plain strawberry shortcake is often served with plain cream.

Another type of so-called strawberry shortcake is one made with a sponge cake. A sponge cake made from any good sponge-cake recipe can be used. It should be baked about two inches thick. A baker's sponge cake will do very well for this purpose. The cake is usually cut in individual sizes and a cream filling placed between the layers.

One kind of cream filling is made by beating one cup of heavy cream until firm and adding the juice of one-half of a lemon and three-quarters of a cup of strawberry preserves. Another kind of cream filling is made by beating one cup of heavy cream until stiff and adding one-third cup of sugar. To this is added one egg white well beaten and one-half teaspoon of lemon or vanilla flavoring. Lastly, about three-fourths of a cup of fresh or canned strawberries is added.

Other fruits may be used for shortcakes. Some of the fruits more commonly used are raspberries, peaches, apricots, oranges, plums, quince and bananas.

One good recipe for a banana filling is as follows: Slice about six bananas, add the grated rind of one-half an orange and the juice and pulp of one whole orange; add to this one cup of sugar. Stir into this mixture one-half cup of thick cream, well beaten. This may be served with plain cream if desired.

A quince filling for shortcake: Use two large or four small yellow quinces. Peel and grate on a coarse grater. Boil one and one-half cups of granulated sugar with enough water to make a thick syrup. When the syrup is partly cold, stir into it the grated quince. Stir very hard for a minute and then spread between the layers of the cake, dusting over the tops of the layers with powdered sugar. Cut and serve as you would serve pie. This is served with sweetened whipped cream.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. H. Whiteside, of Keota, Okla. She continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating—tight, uncomfortable feeling—and this was very disagreeable and brought on headache. I was constipated and knew it was indigestion and inactive liver. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of a torpid, or slow-acting liver. Indigestion, biliousness, colic, coated tongue, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—any or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something the matter with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name, "Thedford's Black-Draught," is on the package. At all druggists.

COUNTY WARRANTS AT PAR

May 8th, 1922. It is ordered that the Warrants accompanying the reports be cancelled, that the County Treasurer have his proper credits and that the above report be entered upon the Minutes of this Court, and be published one time.

Witness our hands officially, this the 8th day of May, A. D. 1922:

A. H. Tondre, Com. Prec. No. 2,

County Clerk, Medina County, Texas.

A REAL GAME OF BASEBALL.

Molasses at the stick; Smallpox was catching; Cigar was in the box and had plenty of smoke.

Horn was playing first and Fiddle second; Corn was in the field and Apple was umpiring the game.

When Ax came to the bat, he chopped. Brick walked. Sawdust filled the bases, then Song made a hit and Twenty scored.

Slipper kicked over every foot of ground and said Apple was rotten. Then Cherry tried but it was a wild one.

When Spider caught a fly, the crowd cheered. Old Ice kept cool as the game went on until he was hit by a pitched ball; then you ought to have heard old Ice scream.

Cabbage had a good head and old Grass covered a lot of ground in the field.

In the fifth inning Wind began to blow about what he could do and Hammer began to knock. When the umpire called Knife out for cutting first base, Orange showed his yellow by refusing to play and Bread loafed; so the Trees began to leave.

There was lots of betting on the game and when Glass fell, we all went broke except Soap, who cleaned us.

They all kicked when Light was put out and the way they roasted Peanuts was a shame.

When the Pig began to root, Balloon went up in the air and Apple told Fiddle to take his base.

Oats was shocked when Song made another hit. Trombone made a beautiful slide and was safe at second.

Meat finally went down at home plate but Horseradish being too strong, threw away the ball, ending the game by a score of 1 to 0.—The Brackenridge Times.

Hail Insurance on Growing Crops

NOW, for the farmers, who are already heavily burdened, as they have been forced to accept big losses because of reduction in prices and credit in the course of re-adjustment, to be caught without hail insurance, in the event of a bad hail storm, would present a condition akin to the "straw that broke the camel's back."

Be classed as a conservative and reliable farmer by placing HAIL INSURANCE with a strong old line company, on your Growing Crops.

A TONIC

Tasteless chill Tonic restores vitality by Purifying and strengthening the Blood. When you feel it's a bright world and a good world And a merry world I know.

Oh, I'm on my toes and snappy When the little home is happy, And I leave them waving kisses Through the window as I go; When the mother isn't sighing, And no little one is crying It's a bright world and a good world And a merry world I know.

Oh, I'm just a glass, reflecting What my little brood's projecting; Just a walking, living mirror Of the home I've left behind. If they're full of mirth and chatter And there's nothing much the matter Then I'm full of pep and ginger For the tasks I chance to find.

But if care I've left behind me Then my tasks must ever find me Lacking strength for fine endeavor And a dreamer sore distressed. For the strength of every battle Comes from little children's prattle And it's only when they're happy That their daddy's at his best.

Copyrighted articles are not always marked. They get into print without that brand, but every editor who publishes a copyrighted article is liable. Some fellow in a northern state during the war wrote a poem ridiculing the Kaiser. Some reader, we judge, clipped it and took it to an editor, but in clipping it severed the word "copyrighted" and the editor thus published it. Other editors copied in good faith, no doubt believing that the author contributed it to forwarding war work. But the author had sold his poem to a syndicate that found its business injured by the broadcast publication of the ingenious poem and went back upon the author who had sold it to him as copyrighted and made him refund the purchase price. Then the author prosecuted in the Federal courts those editors who published his article. The author, however, got in the toils of the law by writing to the guilty editors and promising immunity to all who would send him a certain sum of money. The district attorney added the author to the list and we suppose continues the prosecution. Before bringing an article to the editor, see if somewhere on your magazine you find the words, "all rights reserved," or "all matter in this publication is copyrighted."—Lockhart Post Register.

This paper is in receipt of an unsigned, type-written communication, postmarked Devine, in which the anonymous writer accuses by name a number of his neighbors of being members of the Ku Klux Klan. The writer further alleges that the said men "are under obligation to deny" affiliation with the order, that he was "present at their meetings" and "saw and heard them with my own eyes and ears." Of course, it is contrary to all newspaper ethics for this paper to publish this letter, but it is in our possession and can be seen by any one interested, or it will be turned over to any legal authority duly authorized to receive it. It would seem, however, that inasmuch as the members of this band are pledged to deny affiliation with it, bare denials will not help the situation and it is up to the self-respecting people of the Devine community to place themselves in the clear by forcing those who are affiliated with it out into the open. Good men can not be blamed for such an outfit finding a foothold in their community, but if they allow them to persist under cover society will not hold them blameless. There can be no escaping this responsibility. If the writer of

When the kids are busy swinging On the gate and gayly singing. When the mother's humming ditties As she works about the place, When I know by all the clatter That there's nothing much the matter I can whistle at my labor And can keep a smiling face.

Oh, I'm on my toes and snappy When the little home is happy, And I leave them waving kisses Through the window as I go; When the mother isn't sighing, And no little one is crying It's a bright world and a good world And a merry world I know.

Oh, I'm just a glass, reflecting What my little brood's projecting; Just a walking, living mirror Of the home I've left behind. If they're full of mirth and chatter And there's nothing much the matter Then I'm full of pep and ginger For the tasks I chance to find.

But if care I've left behind me Then my tasks must ever find me Lacking strength for fine endeavor And a dreamer sore distressed. For the strength of every battle Comes from little children's prattle And it's only when they're happy That their daddy's at his best.

This paper is in receipt of an unsigned, type-written communication, postmarked Devine, in which the anonymous writer accuses by name a number of his neighbors of being members of the Ku Klux Klan. The writer further alleges that the said men "are under obligation to deny" affiliation with the order, that he was "present at their meetings" and "saw and heard them with my own eyes and ears." Of course, it is contrary to all newspaper ethics for this paper to publish this letter, but it is in our possession and can be seen by any one interested, or it will be turned over to any legal authority duly authorized to receive it. It would seem, however, that inasmuch as the members of this band are pledged to deny affiliation with it, bare denials will not help the situation and it is up to the self-respecting people of the Devine community to place themselves in the clear by forcing those who are affiliated with it out into the open. Good men can not be blamed for such an outfit finding a foothold in their community, but if they allow them to persist under cover society will not hold them blameless. There can be no escaping this responsibility. If the writer of this letter is an irresponsible trouble-maker—and we have no means of determining—he should be smoked out into the open by the entire citizenship of the town.

We have been asked to circulate a petition to have the Democratic Executive Committee re-open the never suppressed liquor agitation by submitting to the primary of the Democratic party in July a proposition to recommend to the Congress and the Legislature the repeal of the Volstead and the Dean laws. While we regard such laws, under whose terms Jesus Christ could be sent to the Federal penitentiary, and that make a criminal of a mother who would ferment a little of the juice of her own grapes, grown in her own garden bower, and plucked by her own loving hands, for the sake of a tonic for sick loved ones and neighbors; I say, while I regard such laws as legal monstrosities and their enactment a crime against the rights of society and enlightened civilization, you will have to excuse us this time. Those who wanted prohibition laws got them—got them to the limit—and we are mean enough to sometimes enjoy the agonies of some of our erstwhile uncompromising pros over the way they did the job. If half we hear and all we sometimes smell is true those who want to drink the vile stuff get more than enough to debase themselves. Only the temperate, law-abiding citizen is deprived of the free exercise of his will. He never got any consideration at the hands of either extremist before; he will not get any in the proposed new deal. Until the safe, sober judgment of a rational minded people evolve a system whereby they can ostracise and drive to silence the blatant paid agitation on the one hand and send to a home of correction the self-debauchee on the other, we are content to "endure the ills we have rather than flee to those we know not of." Now listen for that anonymous voice out of the dark say again unto Atticus—the pore cuss—"let us pray!"

It doesn't take much education sometimes to put two and two together and find the result. The other day there came into our hands a bundle of propaganda literature from the State University. As we turned and scanned the neatly mimeographed (at the taxpayers' expense) pages we were forcibly struck by a pathetic appeal for more money for the public schools of Texas (one of which is our State University). It was a strong appeal; it was an appeal that was not expected to be denied. It quoted the late lamented Governor Hogg who in turn quoted "our fathers" to the effect "that unless the people are educated and enlightened it is idle to expect the continuance of civil liberty or the capacity for self-government," and called loudly and long for Governor Neff to convene a special session of the Legislature to provide more funds for the schools lest our civilization perish. We were feeling "alarmingly" impressed until we turned the next sheet, and there we were informed that, despite certain cool weather had interfered somewhat, it had just been discovered through a series of experiments that by squirting certain extracts into the belly of a tadpole it would develop legs in about one month, whereas the usual length of time required is at least three months! Now we are free to admit that this discovery is of vital interest to those ambitious tadpoles that are anxious to "step out" in advance of their less aggressive brothers, but we fail to see where such knowledge is going to improve the capacity of our people for self-government or redound to the perpetuity of the nation. It is such fads as this that keeps the school fund broke and the state low down in the scale of literacy, while millions upon millions are poured into the public school funds—and the cry is still more, more, more!

WHY BE A HYPOCRITE?

From The Huajillo Leaf.

"Some people speak as if hypocrites were confined to religion, but they are everywhere; people pretending to wealth when they have not a sixpence, assuming knowledge of which they are ignorant, shamming a culture they are far removed from, adopting opinions they do not hold."

—Albert Goodrich.

We would indeed scorn the idea of anyone saying we were hypocrites, yet are we quite sure after perusing the meaning of this word carefully that we are not hypocrites? The trouble with most people is that they are too eager to please everyone by agreeing with anything they say. Take for instance, the incident between Hamlet and Polonius. Hamlet suggested that a cloud was shaped as a camel, whereupon Polonius readily agreed. Then Hamlet exclaimed that it resembled a whale, then, a weasel, and Polonius again agreed to both of these statements. Are we not like this? And by the definition Albert Goodrich has given of hypocrites, we are hypocrites if we are like Polonius.

We have frequently heard the expression that a person is "two-faced." This is probably the best example of a hypocrite. They pretend they are your friends; then, immediately say things about you a friend would not dare say.

Again, is it not uncommon to hear a person ridicule another about something, while if they were trying to accomplish the same thing, they could not do better than this person. Then, this person who ridicules the other is a hypocrite, for he is "assuming knowledge of which he is ignorant."

We are often very quick to call another person a hypocrite, but before we do so, let us be sure we are not hypocrites ourselves.

Mike ate it, but as he finished he looked up at Pat panic-stricken.

FUNDAMENTAL REVELATION

in DRAMATIC SYMBOL.

By Rev. J. T. Horger.

Part I.

Is the Bible the Word of God?

This subject, doubtless, has been discussed from a thousand stand-points of views. However, one of the strongest lines of evidence of Divine authenticity and inspiration of the Bible, is in its harmonious consistency, of the beautiful systematic scheme of redemption, manifested on its sacred pages from Genesis to Revelation. It is most wonderful how the whole plan of Salvation is founded upon, and fashioned after the Personality of the Godhead and the constitutional principles of man, the object of redemption. The first and supreme principle in true religion is God. He who, throughout the scripture, especially the New Testament, is represented as a Triune God, namely, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Now, when God would make man, who is the climax of the creation of this world, He said, "Let us make man in our own image, after our own likeness." So it is written, "God created man in His own image."

Much has been written as to the peculiar characteristics of man that constitute the image of his creator. But no view of this subject so harmonizes and tallies out so completely with the whole plan and process of salvation as that which recognizes in man the Triune principles which correspond to those of his creator. His physical body, comprehending his whole being, corresponds to God the Father. And when considered indiscriminately as a whole, he appears to be truly a unit, just as the God of the Bible, when first He appeared to man in the gray dawn of early Revelation, was reckoned as a unit, just one God. But, as man develops and we study him more closely, we find a second distinct component part in him, i. e., mind or intellect, which is found to readily correspond to the 2nd Person in the Godhead. Just as the dispensation of Jesus, the 2nd Person in the Godhead, appears to be more spiritual than that of the Father, even so is the intellect of man found to be more spiritual than the physical body.

But when we throw the physical microscope on man, the realm of his heart, the seat of his emotions, the citadel of his soul appears. This corresponds to the Third Person in the Godhead, and when compared to the intellect, is found to be far richer in spiritual nature than that of the intellect. Just as the Dispensation of the Holy Ghost, the Third Person in the Godhead appears richer and more glorious than that of the Son, the Second Person in the Godhead, even so the realm of the seat of affections in man is found to be richer in spiritual power and more important in the formation of character. Truly God is Triune, and man made in His image, is also Triune.

The next fundamental and clearly stated principle in scripture, forming the whole outline and constitutional way, means, and manner of Salvation, is the Triune character of Revelation, that is, a dispensation of the Father, then that of the Son, and then also of the Holy Ghost, as set forth in the scriptures, viz, the dispensation of the Father from Adam to the coming of Christ, and the dispensation of the Son from the coming of Christ till the day of Pentecost, and then the dispensation of the Holy Spirit from the day of Pentecost till the close of the present dispensation. Now, the facts of the paragraph are well known and readily accepted, namely, the three dispensations covering the whole time of man's existence and state of probation in the earth. However, the theological world evidently has been a little slow to realize that these three dispensations have their most valuable, practicable, imperative and indispensable application in the salvation of each and every soul that has been, and now is, and shall be saved by grace, through faith in the blood of the everlasting covenant. While the Father's dispensation, as applied to the individual, has quite a variety of features and phases, the moral law, true righteousness, is the heart and core of this dispensation. The recognition, submission to, and the acceptance, of the moral law as given by Moses at Mount Sinai and taught throughout the scriptures, together with true repentance toward God for the violation of any one or more of these principles, must be heartily and freely accepted as to the law, and thoroughly wrought out in the soul with reference to repentance before the soul can possibly have access by faith into Jesus, the sacrificial Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world. No pardon for sins is possible until the soul has submitted to, and as far as the will and purpose is concerned, accepted and embraced in the heart of hearts the unqualified purpose, God being its helper, to here and hereafter live a moral life of true righteousness before God and man, and having truly repented of all transgressions then, and not till then, can one exercise a lively faith in the pardoning grace of God through Jesus' precious blood.

Genuine faith will bring a conscious knowledge of pardon of all past transgressions, thus consummating the Father's dispensation of the soul. Also at the same time and in the same act of grace, Divine life is breathed into the soul and it passes out of the Kingdom of Darkness into the Kingdom of his dear Son, that is, unto the Dispensation of the Son. According to John 14:15 to 17, and many other scriptures, those who are in the Dispensation of the Son, and they only are eligible to enter the Dispensation of the Holy Spirit. Pardon and regeneration must be full, clear and complete up to date, and a perfect obedience to all the commandments, a thorough whole-hearted consecration, coupled with unwavering faith in THE PROMISE OF THE FATHER which ye have heard of me, said Jesus, which is the Baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire. Not a growth in grace, but a Baptism with the Spirit is the God-ordained, and only means by which the soul can possibly pass from the Dispensation of the Son into the Dispensation of the Holy Ghost; which purifies from the last remains of sin and enthrones the Holy Spirit in the soul.

Say, do "we believe in the Holy Ghost," as we so often repeat in the Apostles' Creed?

Now, we maintain that the whole plan, method and manner of the salvation of each individual is by way of Incarnation of God the Father and God the Son and God the Holy Ghost in the soul. Therefore, St. Paul, when praying that the Ephesian Christians might receive the anointing of the Holy Spirit that perfects in love, prayed that they might be filled with all the Fullness of God. Can any one say that the means, manner and way by which God proposes to save us is too weak, superficial and inefficient to cope with the powers of Satan, sin, death, hell and destruction? No! No! Our God is sufficient. Yes, the Triune God, and the Triune Revelation, and the Triune Application of Salvation within the Triune creature are the ear marks of the constitutional principle of Redemption. And one of the most infallible evidences that our Bible is the Word of God, the Way of Eternal Life.

The keynote of salvation through the blood of the everlasting covenant, and the climax of the whole matter, is to unite into one being the

REV. J. T. HORGER.

Triune God and the Triune man—six persons thoroughly united and thoroughly blended, forming a new creature; new in Heaven, new in earth; Jesus being the first born among many brethren. This final character of redemption by way of uniting the three-fold God and three-fold man, is directly and indirectly set forth throughout the scriptures by the mystical sacred number seven, first introduced as the glorious crowning of the six days of God's material creation. Thus, the co-operative labor of the three Persons in the Godhead with that of the three persons in the manhood, forming the glorious re-creation of the soul, which state of hallowed rest is symbolized by the Holy Sabbath—Seventh Day. All glory unto God the Father, Son and the Holy Ghost. Amen, and Amen!
